A GREAT CALIFORNIA ORCHARD.- From the Marysville Standard. |-A few days ago it | was our pleasure to visit the orchard of John Briggs, located about two miles south of Yuba City, in Sutler county. The proprietor is the owner of 426 acres, mostly bottom land, lying along the west bank of the Feather river. The soil is a rich, sandy loam, and composed of the yearly deposits of the river many years ago.

No better or richer land is to be found in the State, and the orchard we shall briefly notice promises to be the pride of the Briggs, Brothers, who have a State reputation as orehardists and fruit growers. Before reaching the orchard proper we rode through a field, of 150 acres of castor—beans, growing in the most luxurious manner—which field by the by, is to give place to a new orchard next year, the fruit trees for the same at present growing in the nursery by the side of the field of castor beans, and containing 25,000 one-year old budded neach trees, 16,000 plum trees, 6,000 East-dad neach trees, 16,000 plum trees, 16,000 East-dad neach trees, 16,000 East-dad neach trees, 16,000 East-dad neach trees, 16,000 East-dad neach trees, 16,000 East-dad proper we rode through a field, of 150 acres of beans, and containing 25,000 one-year old bud-ded peach trees, 16,000 plum trees, 6,000 East-ern walnuts, 25,000 California walnuts, 2,000 apple trees, 500 Itallian chestnut trees, &c.-Passing along through this forest of young trees we arrived at the present peach orchard, consisting of 600 trees two years old, and some of them bearing this season 150 pounds of peaches. These trees have made a remarkable growth, owing to the rich ground in which they are planted, and in another year will make a tremendous yield of fruit. We next rode into the cherry orchard, containing 3,000 of the most thrifty young trees ever seen on any ground. The different varieties, fitteen in number, gave this orehard a variety of aspect and broke up the usual monotony of the steeple like formed cherry orehard. These cherry trees were all imported from Rochester, N. Y., about three years ago. Off to the south of this wonderful wilderness are 2,500 plum trees, of twelve varieties, and 500 apple trees, mostly winter varieties. Passing the peach orchard we reached the apricots, 2,500 in number, which are also two years old, and have borne a fair crop the present season. This orchard presented a sad sight in one respect. The te heavy storm had prostrated many of the trees entire, while in others the limbs had been torn of as if a tremendous tornado had swept over the place. However the trees were healthy and stout, notwithstanding the mutilations here and there. On returning from the orchard by the wagon road we had entered we visited Briggs Brothers, steam power castor oil mill. Here we found a magnificent hydraulic press, with eighty pounds pressure, and possessing a capacity of compressing 300 gallons of oil per day. The mill also contained twenty tous of castor beans and 2,500 gallons of oil nicely bottled and cased and ready

LETTER FROM MR. JEFFERSON. -- In the volume of Mr. Jefferson's private life recently published are some letters never before given to the public.

One of the latest is interesting as expressing his feelings for an old friend, Mr. Adams, with whom his friendship had suffered a long interruption from political causes.

"I communicated the letters, according to your permission, to my grand-daughter, Ellen Randolph, who read them with pleasure and edification. She is justly sensible of, and flattered by, your kind notice of her; and additionally so by the favorable recollections of our Northern visiting friends. If Monticello has anything which has merited their remembrance, it gives it a value the more in our estimation; and could I, in the spirit of your wish, count backward a score of years, it would not be long before Ellen and myself would pay our homage personally to Quincy. But those twenty years! increased so rapidly. It restores the color and Alas! where are they? With those beyond the growth of the hair positively in a few days; flood. Our next meeting must then be in strengthens the roots, makes an excellent dressthe country to which they have flown-a ing, soiling neither clothes nor scalp; but on the country for us not now very distant. For this journey we will need neither gold nor silver in our purse, nor scrip, nor coats, uor staves. Nor is the provision for it more easy than the preparation has been kind. Nothing proves more than this, that the Being who presides over the world is essentially benevolent-stealing from us, one by one, the faculties of enjoyment, searing our sensibilities, leading us, like the horse in the mill, round and round the same beaten circle-

To see what we have seen, To taste the tasted, and at each return Less tasteful; o'er our palates to decant Another vintage-until, satiated and fatigued with this leaden iteration, we ask our own conge.

I heard once a very old friend, who had troubled himself with neither poets nor philosophers, say the same thing in plain prose, that he was tired of pulling off his shoes and stockings at night, and putting them on again in the morning. The wish to stay here is thus gradually extinguished; but not so easily that of returning once in a while to see how things have gone on. Perhaps, however, one of the elements of future felicity is to be a constant and unimpassioned view of what is passing here. If so, this may well supply the wish of occasional visits. Mercier has given us a vision of the year 1440; but prophecy is one thing, and history another. On the whole, however, perhaps it is wise and well to be contented with the good things which the master of the feast places before us, and to be thankful for what we have rather than thoughtful about what we EVERYTHING AMISS, -- Popkins, who has been staying at a seaside watering place, was asked the other day (says the Boston Commercial Bulletin) by a friend, who thought he looked rather crusty, if anything was amiss at the hetel. "Yes, about everything is amiss at this confounded trap," said P., mopping his face. Everything amiss! How so?"

"Well, in the first place the accommodations are mis-represented; the servants are mis-governed; a man is mis-led in coming here, and mis-taken in thinking to enjoy himself his time is mis-spent; his confidence in the a man has his mis-givings the first day after GREEN GREEN a man has his mis givings the first day after his arrival; the servant mis-lays his hairbrush, bootjack, slippers and things, and contributes to his mis-comfort; the company is mis-cellaneous; several old Misses are mis-chief making and mis-construing your polite courtsey into mis-conduct; and, to crown the whole, the waiter mis-pronounces my name, and the barkeeper always makes a mis-count in making in real and imitation hair.

J. ROGERS, 68 Sharp street, Baltimore, an eminent physician, writes regarding CRYSTAL DISCOVERY:

ny as to the efficacy of your Crystal Discovery. Some years since, while in India, I suffered from a severe fever peculiar to the country. On my recovering, a patch of hair on the left side of my head became perfectly white, without at all affecting the remainder. To remove this unsightly appearance, I had recourse to various prepara-tions, both in Europe and in this country; but they all had one great defect—they dyed the hair black. Now, with your Crystal Discovery, I can get the desired shade-the natural color of but compounds of Sugar of Lead and Sulphur, and therefore should be shunned by all who contrary it gives the scalp a pure and cleanly look, removing all dandruff and scurf. It is the large bottles, at one dollar.

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness, Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of anoth, is blighted with our own. SEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

Where e misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure linds that he has imbibed the seeds of this primare that that he has inflated the seeds of this primare disease, it too often happens that an ill-times ense of shame or dread of discovery de-ters him from applying to those who, from educa-tion and respectability, can alone befriend him. delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dinness of sight, leafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, pro-gressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commisseration till death buts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no waveller returns."

It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskilful PRE-TENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious injurious compounds, and instead of being re stored to a renewal of Life, Vigorand Happiness in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his gailing disappointment. DR. JOHNSTON,
